

When is a Fiber Loopback Assembly necessary?

In many test applications it is necessary to measure the loss value of a duplex fiber run. A useful tool to accomplish this is a fiber loopback assembly. As illustrated below the fiber loopback assembly allows a signal round trip to occur from the source through the launch cable back to the power meter such that a loss value can be measured for both legs of a fiber duplex assembly.

