

TIP: Solid vs stranded center conductors

In coaxial cable there is a trade off in center conductor construction. A solid center conductor will give the best attenuation performance but will be somewhat stiff, while a stranded center conductor will be more flexible but have slightly higher attenuation.

